5.2.2 Student progression to higher education during last five years

Institute for Education take immense pride in the number of students who have pursued higher studies, including Ph.D. and Master's programs in education. Our mission is to cultivate a passion for lifelong learning by offering a robust academic environment that challenges and inspires. We emphasize skill enhancement through specialized training, seminars, and workshops, ensuring our students are well-equipped for advanced studies. By nurturing critical thinking and research capabilities, we aim to motivate our students to continue their academic journey and contribute meaningfully to the field of education. We are committed to supporting them at every step of their educational pursuits.
